The Camargo Foundation, a residential centre offering programming in the humanities and arts, is accepting applications for its Core Programme in Cassis, France, in 2021 and 2022.

Since 1971, the foundation has offered residencies to individuals from different nationalities as part of its mission to support ground-breaking research, experimentation and interdisciplinary approaches. The residency period is between six to 11 weeks.

During the residency, participants partake in regular discussions to encourage interdisciplinary exchange while the foundation’s staff provide formal and informal links with the region and facilitate meetings with professionals whose areas of expertise are relevant to fellows’ work.

The application deadline is 1 October 2020. [...]
